

Why You're Still Stuck

Your Map

Press play on the audio first. Fill this in as you go. There are no wrong answers.

1. The two things I want that feel like I can't have both

A.

B.

2. The rule I've been playing by

"I believe I can't have both..."

3. When it started, and what I decided to believe

4. The weight I've been carrying, in one line

"The weight I've been carrying is..."

5. Where I'm going (the both/and)

"I want ... and ..."

Seeing it is the hard part, and you just did it. Seeing it is not the same as setting it down. That next step is what Consecration Day is for: a day to take what you just mapped and, with God, lay it down and leave it there.

If you got to the end and you still can't see your wall, that's not a failure. Some walls need a second set of eyes. That's what the call is for. Book it and we'll go find it together.

Set up a conversation with me here: calendly.com/coachlukeparker/discernment